Arts United/Fall River is a non-profit organization with the mission to support and encourage the artists and arts organizations of Fall River. There have been a number of reasons for our creation. The first priority is a sharing of information and resources, for which our website is designed: Arts United Fall River.org. You can find there a calendar of arts events, maintained by our individual members, and a Bulletin Board with information on space, jobs, auditions and local arts news that may be important to you.

We produced the ArtWrap project that put student artwork on the fence around the courthouse construction site. We have hosted seminars with several agencies of the Massachusetts Cultural Council as well as other statewide organizations and we are part of the team who won the MCC's Adams Grant this year. We are working with the Chamber of Commerce and other city groups to investigate ways to boost the creative economy of Fall River. The Visitors Center in Heritage State Park can be a great venue for the arts; contact us or the Friends of Heritage State Park for assistance in booking an event. We've worked with the Chamber to program an Artisans Fair there this past August and we have organized other shows around town, including Art on the Watuppa, Pulp Function, and Experiencing the War in Iraq.

We've begun drafting plans for evolving our website into a newsletter, building an information kiosk/ box-office on Main Street, and creating a cultural map for Fall River.

Arts United encourages and supports all Fall River artists and organizations to engage in grant searches and applications, forwarding any and all grant information to members, continually exploring opportunities to build partnerships and collaborations for events, programs and projects. If you could use some help in any cultural endeavor in Fall River, please contact us: info@ArtsUnitedFallRiver.org
